To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter to recommend the services offered by Lewis & Associates. Threaded Fasteners has been in the manufacturing and distribution business for nearly 30 years. We pride ourselves on keeping our operating expenses as low as possible, without compromising our high customer service levels. In today's trying times for most industrial manufacturing businesses, margins are very low and the costs of doing business are getting higher.

Lewis and Associates showed us how to increase our bottom line by cutting costs and becoming more efficient with the way we manage our business internally. Their processes were a lot easier to implement than having to increase our margins and sales, which are both very difficult to do in this economy.

Jim Sealy, and his team, were able to implement three of their recommendations and our bottom line increased by several thousand dollars in our first month alone. And, we project to improve our bottom line by tens of thousands of dollars in our first year. The process did not take much time on our part, but the results have been remarkable.

Again, I would recommend you talk with Lewis & Associates if you want to improve your bottom line. Please call me if you would like to speak further about our experience.

Sincerely,
